NEWS RELEASE

October 14, 2010

The Village of Rye Brook is pleased to support breast cancer awareness month and has several activities planned for the last two weeks of October to raise awareness to help fight breast cancer. These activities include the following:

- Pink ribbons will be placed around the pillars at Village Hall and the Rye Brook Firehouse.
- Breast cancer awareness information packets will be made available to all office staff and the public in the lobby of Village Hall.
- A water cooler will be placed in the Village Hall lobby to collect donations for Susan G. Komen for the Cure®, a leading organization that created the Passionately Pink for the Cure® program to raise awareness and funds to help fight breast cancer. Any employees and members of the public may voluntarily contribute towards this important program.
- All office employees will be provided with pink ribbon pins and asked to wear them the last two (2) weeks of October.
- Office employees will be asked to wear pink on Wednesday, October 20 as a demonstration of their support of this important awareness program.

Mayor Joan Feinstein added “Almost everyone I know has a family member, friend or co-worker that has been affected by breast cancer. I am pleased that the Village of Rye Brook is helping bring additional awareness to the employees and community about this important cause”.

If you have any questions about these activities, please contact Rye Brook’s Passionately Pink team coordinator, Shari Melillo, Secretary to the Administrator, at (914) 939-0111.
